

LOCKY BELL EPPERSON

Nov. 20, 1915 — Dec. 17, 2004

Locky Bell Epperson, 89, Kokomo, died 1:50 a.m., Friday, Dec. 17, 2004, at Howard Regional Health System, Kokomo. She was born Nov. 20, 1915, in Hanson, Ky., the daughter of the late Charles Ray Ashby and the late Daisy Bell Bolen.

In 1938, she married Fred James Epperson, and he preceded her in death Feb. 6, 1972.

She was employed with Reliance, Den-Rays, Turtle Creek Nursing Home and Hobbs Nursery.

Locky Epperson

She was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and the Women's Relief Society at the Church. She enjoyed quilting, gardening, and her prize tomatoes, and was well-known for her monkeys and dough boys.

Survivors are daughter, Elsie and husband, Willard Bolton, Flora; daughter, Barbara and husband Ron Vorhees, Macy; son, Paul and wife Kathy Epperson, Kokomo; grandchildren, Valerie, Nannette, Willard, Mandy, Marilyn, Paul, Paula, Jaetta, Mark, Bud, Regina and Mendy; several great grandchildren; and nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents; husband; seven sisters, Lottie, Mary, Lillie, Gladys, Dorothy, Ann, and Daisy; three brothers, Roy, Morgan, and Robert; and two grandchildren, Corky and René.

Services are 10 a.m. Tuesday at Ellers Mortuary Main Street Chapel, 725 S. Main Street, Kokomo. Friends may call from 5 to 7 p.m., Monday at the funeral home. Elder Lyman Marler will officiate. Burial will be in Crown Point Cemetery, Kokomo. Memorials may be directed to Area Five Council on Aging.