

NEW LONDON.

1884
May 6.

Wheat and grass could not look better.

Julius Cox is painting Will Harrison's new residence.

The wife of George Lindley was buried here on Friday.

John Covert left yesterday to attend the State Advent meeting.

Willie Arnett and Ella Schooley gave the writer a pleasant call Sunday.

The prospect is very good for a large crop of apples and some other fruits.

George W. Dillon is remodeling his store room and will increase his business.

Willie Kenworthy is building an addition to his house and otherwise improving it.

James Harseman is still confined to his room. He has been sick for several months.

Everybody is fixing for the Quaker Sabbath-school conference to be held here soon.

Asa Hockett and lady spent a day or two here last week with Vet Newlin and Mattie.

Shelby W. Gifford has set out quite a large lot of raspberries, and will soon have a large fruit garden.

J. A. Morrison has purchased the property of Julius Cox and is remodeling it, and will soon occupy it.

Rev. Huffman, of the Advent church, preached several able sermons here at their quarterly meeting.

Truman Hobson is doing a good business in the blacksmithing line. He occupies the old Thompson corner.

Howard Fritz met with quite an accident last evening. In jumping he was tripped and dislocated one of his knees.

Milton Steemple left Saturday for his home in Indianapolis with a large amount of raspberry sets for his fruit garden at the capital.

Gus Jones' team ran away Sunday and