

KOO PUL
4-13-1899

New London, April 13.

The county Sunday school convention, held here this week, was a grand success. It was largely attended; delegates and visitors from nearly every part of the county were present. Conrad Wolf, of Kokomo, was elected president of the union for the ensuing year and Bycamore, in Jackson township, was selected as the place for the next convention. Rev. Calvin W. Prichard, of Kokomo, attended the convention.

Memorial services of Vilena Williams, deceased, will be held at the Friends' church here Sunday.

Born, to Ed and Mrs. Plath, Saturday evening, a fine boy.

Judge James O'Brien, of Kokomo, spent a few hours in our town last week.

The familiar face of Dr. Sylvester Newlin of Russellville, is seen again on our streets with medicine case in hand.

Mrs. Adella Lindley, of Fairmount, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Abigail Ho'son, and her sister, Mrs. Emma Davis, of Logansport, who has been quite sick at her mother's.

Mrs. Fanny Green, of Frankfort, is here to see her sick mother, Mrs. William Bowman.

Dr. Garr, of Clay township, attended the convention yesterday.

Mrs. Susan Thompson met with quite a sad accident the other morning. She fell and injured herself quite seriously. She is resting easy now.

LIBERAL.
